

Feline Neuter Surgical After Care Instructions

Discharge instructions	s for		Date
Diet:
Anesthesia can cause	nausea and vomiting s	so please refrain from fe	eding immediately after any su	rgical procedure.
Feed only a small amo	ount (about half) of his	regular diet this evenin	g after 7 pm. You can feed as u	sual the following day. Do not change y	our pet's diet at this ti	me. This includes feedi	ng table scraps, milk, tuna or an	y other human food
Exercise and Activity
Keep your pet quiet.	Patients' recovering f	rom surgery should have	e limited exercise. Avoid dange	rous situations including access to sta	aircases. No running, j	umping, swimming, bat	hing or other strenuous activitie	es for 7 days. Any strenuous activity cou	uld disrupt the healing	process. Pets must be k	ept indoors.
Monitor:
A decrease in activity	or appetite for 1-2 day	ys may be observed. Ho	wever if your pet exhibits any o	of the following symptoms, please no	tify your regular veteri	narian:
Loss of appetite for	more then 24 hours
Refusal to drink wa	ter for more than 24 h	ours
Labored breathing	or pale gums
Severe depression,	weakness or pain
Vomiting and/or dia	arrhea
Difficulty urinating
CHECK THE INCISION	SITE TWICE DAILY for	swelling, redness or dra	inage. Any swelling should be n	ninimal and resolve within 24 hours. Male	e cats may appear as if	f they still have testicles	This is normal and will subside	gradually through the recovery process.	DO NOT ALLOW YOU	IR PET TO LICK OR CHEV	AT THE INCISION! If your pet	licks at the incision
you will need to purch	hase a restrictive elizal	oethan collar to prevent	access to the surgical site while	e it heals. Failure to do so may result in in	fection, dehiscence (o	pening of surgical site)	and the need for further emerg	jency surgical
intervention. There a	are NO sutures to be re	emoved. Do not clean o	r apply any topical ointment to	the incision site.
Many patients may no	ot have a bowel move	ment for 24-36 hours af	er surgery-this is normal.
Today your pet also re	eceived:
Microchip	Rabies Vaccine	FVRCP vaccine	FELV/FIV test

If you have any concerns following the neuter surgery, please contact your regular veterinary clinic or Central Wisconsin

Animal Emergency Center at 715-693-6934.